The initial and follow-up LOAD questionnaires, including user instructions, and any associated materials and content made available on this website (collectively, the “LOAD Questionnaires”) were developed by and are owned by the University of Liverpool.

The LOAD Questionnaires are made available to you under an exclusive distribution license by Elanco Animal Health (“Elanco” or “we”) and in accordance with these Terms and Conditions of Use (“T&Cs”).

The LOAD Questionnaires must not be used as the sole means for medical diagnosis or determining treatment, instead use should be one part of a thorough patient evaluation by a qualified AHP.

  - 4.2. It is accepted that the LOAD Questionnaires will be provided to pet owners/persons responsible for the dog for completion and such completed LOAD Questionnaires may be stored as part of the patient records. To facilitate ease of use, individual clinics, research facilities and other AHP establishments (where download or use of the LOAD Questionnaires constitutes acceptance of the T&Cs) may also direct pet owners/persons responsible for the dog, to a LOAD Questionnaires portal within their own in-clinic/in-facility system, provided such portal is access protected/not open access and that access is limited to their own client/patient database and made strictly subject to these T&Cs.
5. Permission for use of the LOAD Questionnaires is not a transfer of title under any circumstances, and under this licence you shall not:
