

Medicating Cats Doesn't Have to Be Difficult! Keeping It Fear Free®

Giving medications to cats can be like...well, medicating cats! But, with the right training and conditioning, cats can learn to take medication without a hassle and even look forward to the experience. Cats are highly intelligent animals that can adapt to and benefit from Fear Free techniques that lower dosing-related stress for you and them. Join Fear Free Certified® Professional, Monique Feyrecilde, BA, LVT, VTS (Behavior), as she discusses different Fear Free strategies you can use to successfully administer medications to your cat.

Join Monique Feyrecilde, VTS, to learn how to:

- Understand antecedent arrangement and how to set up your environment for success
- Design a plan for giving repeat oral medications to your cat
- Create a training plan that keeps medication time fun and reduces stress
- Identify when to ask your veterinary team for help or choose an alternative medication form
