The only way you can prevent ticks and fleas living on your pet or infesting your home is with regular treatment. With Credelio, you can make this stress-free for both you and your cat or kitten!

Why is parasite protection so important?

Ticks and fleas can be irritating for your pet and - in some cases - spread disease.

Cats can catch ticks and fleas from adventures in the countryside or urban back gardens.

Some cats need tick and flea protection all year round - did you know even indoor cats can get fleas too?

Simple, stress-free options for ticks and fleas...

Tips for stress-free treatment:

- It is ideal to introduce a kitten to treatments at home with some cuddles and play, which is more likely to be a positive experience.
- Introduce kittens to a variety of food and treat types. Weaning kittens onto varied diets can aid in broadening their food preferences throughout their life.
- Some medications have been designed especially for cats, which can make treatment easier for everyone, including your cat.

There are many ways to give me Credelio*, so try finding the approach that suits me best:

I may just take the small, flavoured, chewable tablet with no tricks needed - Credelio is designed for cats and kittens like me

Smear the tablet with butter, spread, or yummy cat yoghurt

Offer me the tablet from the tips of your fingers - Avoid the palm of your hand

Hide the tablet in a small meal or give to me alongside my favourite treat.

Did you know? Cats lack a sweet taste receptor and use other senses, most importantly smell, to assess food. The vanilla and yeast flavourings in Credelio are aromatic compounds that are appealing to a cat's sense of smell.

Top Tip!

Offer me Credelio before or with my first meal of the day, or whenever I am most hungry.

*Credelio should be given alongside food or within 30 minutes of eating
